ANDES COIL PROCESSORS MIDWEST ADDS INCREMENTAL RAIL SERVICE

GARY, Indiana (September 20, 2016) – Andes Coil Processors LLC announced its Gary, Ind., toll processing facility now is able to accept railcars via Canadian National (CN) Railway Co. to and from the Andes facility in the Great Lakes Industrial Complex (GLIC). The routing location within the Canadian National system is the Burns Harbor, Ind., station. The added rail service bolsters the existing rail service via Norfolk Southern Railroad.

Andes Coil Midwest’s increased capacity of rail service to the existing distribution services previously fulfilled by four tractor/trailers adds to its full-service processing, warehousing and distribution solutions. A 4000TM TrackMobile railcar mover is on site to allow ease of car movement within the complex and to the facility’s warehouse.

“Gaining access to receive from both the Norfolk Southern (NS) and the Canadian National (CN) railways provides our customers with the ability to move material into our facility via rail from virtually all over the country,” said Lori Melvin, General Manager of the Andes Midwest facility. Our Texas locations, Dallas and Lewisville, receive approximately 90 percent of their material via rail. It will benefit customers to know that our Midwest location now has this new rail opportunity. We have been seeing a steady increase of railcar movement into our Gary warehouse over the past several months, proving our customers appreciate the multiple avenues to move their freight in and out of Andes Midwest.”

ADD ONE – ANDES COIL PROCESSORS MIDWEST ADDS INCREMENTAL RAIL SERVICE

Andes also increased its slitting capability at both its Lewisville, Texas, and Gary, Ind., facilities in 2014 and 2015, respectively, and opened its third warehouse and storage facility in Dallas, Texas, in September 2015. As a steel coil toll processor, Andes does not own steel but rather provides processing and logistical services to its customers.
